

RESTRUCTURING ADVISORY

It can be difficult to know the right moment to hire advisors to assist in times of financial distress or crisis. At times, business owners and managers assert that they can effectively manage affairs even when the bills are going unpaid, or loan covenants have been violated. Our team helps find solutions, ease tensions with lenders and suppliers, and works to restore credibility with third parties. We can also serve as a “buffer” for management so that they can focus on running the business while we determine steps forward on any restructuring process.
