

EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PLANS TAX REPORTING AND COMPLIANCE

According to the Department of Labor a majority of employers selected for plan examinations are done so based on unusual or incorrect items found on the Form 5500. So it would seem sensible that plan administrators and sponsors would ensure that the Form 5500 filing is correct and free from these errors. However, very few accounting firms or third party administrators truly have significant years of experience in preparing and filing these annual Form 5500 filings. In fact, often times firms and administrators that do prepare Form 5500 filings, do so with inexperienced staff. Whitley Penn is highly cost-effective due to having significant experience at all levels due to the large number of Form 5500 filings we prepare annually. Whitley Penn is a rare combination of good value, broad experience and incisive advice that helps keep your Form 5500 filing free from these errors.

Why Choose Whitley Penn?

With significant experience in preparing and reviewing Form 5500s filings, we focus on both small and large plans – those above the 100-eligible participant threshold for filing an audit report with a Plan’s Form 5500 filing and are known for finding non-compliance issues that personnel or previous outside plan auditors have missed. Such errors compound over years; can jeopardize a Plan’s qualified status if not detected timely and properly remediated; and can result in significant financial impact to the Plan Sponsor. Whitley Penn’s Form 5500 department services include:

- Preparing the entire Form 5500, including all applicable schedules and attachments
- Preparing and submitting Form 5558 extensions
